The reports persist that Kitchener saved Baden-Powell and if, as is now stated, the relief column advanced from Bloemfontein across the country the report may prove to be true. Every person and building is decorated today and the picture of Baden-Powell was hung out everywhere. Though in general the enthusiasm does not equal that shown over the relief of Ladysmith, the town is gay enough to shatter all notions of British conservatism.

There were cheers for Baden-Powell, Lord Roberts, the army and finally for everything in general. Special to News-Democrat. Columbus, May 19.-State Mine Inpector Biddison acknowledges that he has been in a quandary for several days over the appointment of inspectors for the sixth and seventh districts. Developments of the past week have served to complicate matters exceedingly in each district, and last evening Mr. Biddison declared that he had not decided upon appointees for these two places. It is stated that C. W. Smith, of Stark county, has the backing of the political element of his county for the inspectorship of the seventh district, while another applicant, W. E. McKnight, of near Massillon, it is claimed, has the support of a large portion of the miners' organization. Just now Mr. Biddison is investigating this claim and if it is shown that the majority of the miners want McKnight appointed, he will get the job. On the other hand, W. K. Moore, the present incumbent, who desires to be retained, asserts that he has the strongest endorsements of the miners. The situation now is, is that the man who establishes his claims the best will be the successful applicant.

GROWING WARMER

Postoffice Appointment At Massillon Causing Anxiety.

DO NOT WANT VOTE TAKEN.

The Candidates Say That Report is Without Foundation—Gun Club Meets— Heavy Traffic—Massillon

Special to News-Democrat.

Massillon, May 19.—Thet fight for the postoffice is growing warmer every day and word from Washington is anxiously awaited. A report that the matter of deciding who should be the next postmaster was to be left to a vote of the citizens is said by the candidates them-selves to be without foundation. They certainly do not want the matter disposed of in that way. The loyal Tayler organ is worrying itself sick for fear the debonnaire little representative will unduly exercise his mentality in solving the awful question of who shall preside at the Massillon stamp counter. It is indeed a stupendous proposition for the Lisbon statesman to tackle, but it is believed he would dispose of it without suffering nervous exhaustion if it were not for the additional strain put upon him by his local guardian of North Erie street. It's "The king can do no wrong," with Robert's local godmother, who wants no wrong done the king. If "Bobs" boldly appoints his choice it is feared the other fellows will get mad and say mean things about him. They might even be tempted to slap him on the wrist. This would be awful. Think of Robert, the Mormon annihilator, with three stalwart Massilion men mad at him at one time. It's horrible and no wonder his Erie street guardian is becoming hysterical and calls for a special election at which the people may do the selecting, thereby relieving Bobs of the embarrassing and laborious task. No one outside of the particular Erie street protectorate knows anything about a special election and no one cares a snap. All the candidates are good men and good Republicans. Any one of them will be acceptable to the people of Massillon. Then, after all, this election business is a reflection on the man who braved the mighty Mormon in his den and laid him out with one oratorical blow. Mr. Tayler is probably equal to the occa-sion if he steers clear of the whims of his solicitous chaperone. The candidates think so, and they are fellows who are doing most of the thinkingwith one exception-on this postmaster matter. Not a candidate has asked for an election. They are willing to leave the job to Representative Tayler and to him alone. Of course they are not afraid of an election, although some of the candidates may withdraw fore they go before the people for the office. But up to date there is no danger of an election. Bobs will in all probability make his choice and take his bumps. He has had a few and should be used to them by this time. Special election or not, Massillon is bound to have a brand new p. m. before Mr. Frank Humberger, whose chances are said to be all high, said to News-Democrat representative Friday evening that he was willing to leave the matter to the people of Massillon if Mr. Tayler wanted it that way He said he had taken no action in he had no reason to believe that this method would be resorted to. THE GUN CLUB. Friday afternoon was the time for the organization of a gun club, or at leas or a discussion of the matter. It was the regular time for the weekly shoot but when the time came for the discussion there were few of the prime movers present to talk the matter over. It is said they were at Canton banging away at the blue rocks as they were sent out from the Mauger. So the gun club its swintzers, question remains in statu quo. When some idea of i t was seen that there was no hope of afternoon with a 25 bird contest, in sounds of which Reed broke 20, Smith 18, Wolf 14 Murrels 19, Miller 18, Mills 14, Cooper 12,
